Pyramids

Complete sets of pyramids for meditation and energy balancing.

A symbol of ascension, the pyramid, with its balanced geometry, has been considered a bridge between the Earth and the Universe since ancient times. The pyramid has the ability to channel cosmic energies through a system that receives and transmits waves. A frequency that can be used to help restore balance in people, objects, plants, animals and rooms.

Because of their shapes, our different Pyramid models are suitable for both classic energy healing therapy and meditation. Thanks to the wide range of sizes, you can choose the model that best suits your space and needs. A cap (called "energy integrator") is added to the top of the pyramid, while one or more metal alloy energy concentrators are inserted into the base. Handcrafted using a special alloy of noble metals, they are used to harness the energy that is generated both inside and outside the pyramid, channelling it to the person or object being treated.

Created as a physical object, the pyramid is useful for people who actively practice meditation for their energy healing needs.

To choose the number and size of concentrators to be used with the different types of pyramid, consult the table in the images on page 4.

Geoscreening

An effective protective system against the discomforts of geopathic stress.

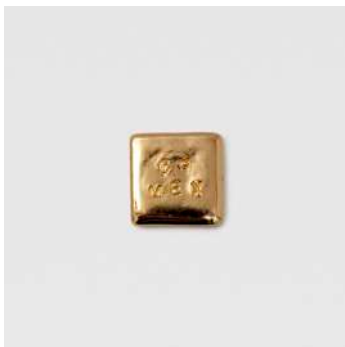

With strong bioenergetic and bioarchitectural knowledge, we have developed a unique screening system.

The geoscreen is a remedy for all those disturbances that can be defined as geopathies, a direct consequence of the influence caused by the phenomena that exist underground and that create a magnetic field on the surface. Energy potentially harmful to humans is concentrated at particular points, the so-called Hartman and Curry lines, etc.

Geopathic symptoms occur when, having excluded specific illnesses, the patient is suffering from insomnia, fatigue, depression, difficulty breathing and generalised malaise.

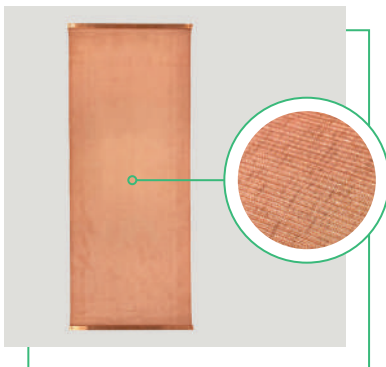

The geoscreen consists of a very fine untreated copper mesh supported by a constellation of over a thousand micro holes capable of intercepting and neutralizing negative magnetic fields. Placed under the bed or under the mattress, the geoscreen ensures restful sleep by protecting people from the risks and more or less serious consequences of electromagnetic overload.

C.P.MEX Dissipator Plate

Plate made of a special anti-magnetic metal alloy with a pure tin base, to protect against minor geopathic stress caused by Hartmann and Curry lines, etc., which can cause discomfort when resting. To enjoy a deep, undisturbed sleep, simply place a plate in every corner of the room and under the pillow.

ZUCCARI, always renowned for its pursuit of well-being, presents this new product constructed of a very fine untreated copper mesh that provides protection against magnetic fields emanating from the subsoil, including Hartmann and Curry nodes. GeoPlus Total Screen completely isolates the person, safeguarding them from any potential health issues that may develop over time and ensuring a peaceful and restful sleep.

Merkaba

Rebalancing and harmonisation of the chakras through multi-dimensional sacred geometry.

The Merkaba we make was conceived as a physical structure, usable by those who actively practice meditation, and by those moved to use it passively, who intend to use it for bioenergetic rebalancing treatments. The word Merkaba (or Merkabah) in Hebrew means Chariot of God and refers to something capable of transporting body and spirit to dimensions other than their own. Also known as the Star of Merkaba, it consists of two tetrahedrons with a triangular base (i.e. two pyramids) one inside the other.

For the first time, a special structure has been created that can accommodate and completely envelop a person inside the Merkaba, allowing them to benefit from the generated energy wave.

Sea wave

It is a reproducer of the sound of the sea wave, through the alternating movement of the spheres contained in the plate, for use in meditation and relaxation sessions.

Genesa

The tool that makes energy harmonization possible — and enhances manifestation.

Genesa is an orgonic device (in fact, it is also referred to as an orgone or as belonging to orgons) and consists of 4 rings. The Genesa is a powerful tool for meditation and personal energy balance, as it "synthesizes" the structures of the universe while supporting them by acting as an "energy director" who decides where, how and when to emanate or receive energy. Like any tool that can channel energy, the Genesa finds a use in the manifestation of intentions.

Penta

Penta Genesa (or pentasphere) is also modeled after a very ancient and powerful symbol, which represents a sphere within another sphere, with 5 circles that intersect to create a star-shaped design. Penta Genesa can be placed in environments as a protection shield, to repel negative energies, or to attract love and prosperity. Used for meditation, it increases spiritual connection with the Whole.

Since it is an orgone, it acts both as an antenna to pick up any energy and as a shield to deflect negative energies away from its possessor and the environments that benefit from its presence. For maximum results, we recommend you place the object of your manifestation or charging there. You can charge your favorite crystals or send energy to a person through an image of them; you can place money there so that cosmic forces will recognize it as an element to be made abundant in your life.
